

So ...

So, i asked myself, "what the hell went wrong?"
Crazy girl, i once thought we had something strong.

Daughter of some burnt out 60s love child,
What the fuck happened to the night you were wild?

Realize 2 late, she was just like her mother.
Leading a scripted life, she kept the real her under cover.

Older, knew how to fence and parry,
Got her pissed, she went back to the cat.
Slammed the door on my way out, went home to my dog.

Chilled out over a beer, found myself thinking she just wanted me to marry,
Never liked her cat, more like a shifty rat,
Realized walking with her was a walk in the fog.

Ya dont see where yer going until it burns off after the sun comes up.
Ya sweat pea, at first light, realized it was a good call to go home to my pup.
